Mariposa, California
mariposaranch.com

Grass-fed meats delivered to your family's doorstep by family ranchers.

The Nitschke Family started the Mariposa Ranch 15-years ago under the name 'Open Space Meats.' In 2006, there were only a handful of companies producing Grass-Fed Beef in California. As they grew and began taking on more customers and learning about the market, they realized the people they were feeding really wanted to know how their beef was produced, where it was from, and who was doing it.

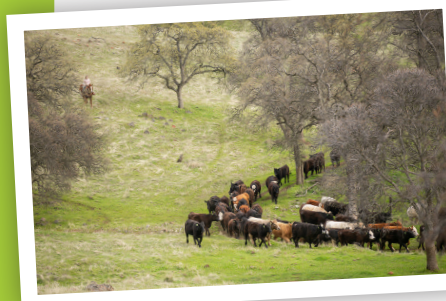

So in 2017, they changed their name to Mariposa Ranch to reflect their transparency and honesty with their customers. Today they ranch as a family at Mariposa Ranch including their 3 wonderful kids. Together, they work with great respect for the environment and the cattle in their care.
